The world championships start tomorrow in France with the long distance qualification races. QOC's Ken Walker Jr. will see his first action on Sunday in the middle distance qualification and will race again on Tuesday in the sprint. Interested parties can follow the action on the official WOC web site [2] or at the US team blog [3] or at World of O [4], which will be liveblogging the races, or, of course, at Ken's Attackpoint log [5]. Good luck, Ken.
